To the Editor of the " Daily Press." DEAR SIE.—Having seen your late comments regarding the Small pox cases which have lately occurred in the harbour, firstly those on beard the "Formosa," and more recently those which have shown themselves in Her Majesty's vessels, I venture to claim a small space in your valuable couning, to make a few observations respecting the nconsistency of permitting ships with a virulent and highly contagious disease on board of them to remain in a crowded harbour, and to hold com-unication with the shore. In regard to H. M's ships, the cases which have occurred were not all, as you stated, on board the 'Encounter," one only having been from that vessel, whilst several have appeared in H. M. S. "Hesper," the boatswain of which vessel died of Small-pox at Green Island; to which place many junction of the Castle Road with Caine Road : others from the same ship have this week been four large bed rooms, and servants rooms, pantry, If the "Hesper," is allowed to remain out of junrantine and her officers and men are as now, | buthrooms, &c., &c. recklessly permitted to frequent places of public resort on shore, the only thing we can expect is the spread of this dreadful disease in all its devastating horror, not only on board Her Majesty's and other ships, but also throughout the dense population of this Colony. The hideous ravages of this painful and loathsome scourge are too well known to need any comment: the dread of it is common to all, and the precautious to avoid its dissemination cannot l too stringent. The Sampans, in which victims in the incipient stages of the disease go to and fro usually contain several young children, who are, as is well known, the most susceptible of infection, thus becoming vehicles of the malady. The Billiard rooms and other public places resorted with danger. Now, Mr. Editor, I do not know with whom it rests to place this dangerous vessel in quarantine, but to the very strictest quarantine she should have been sent at the first outbreak of the disease; but those who have the power, are in my humble opinion, incurring the greatest responsibility, nay, are guilty of the most culpable neglect in allowing her to remain among ships, the entire crews of which she may infect, and close anchored to a city the inhabitants of which the sense she teems with may decimate. - I enclose my card,
